Dear Sisters, Activists, Lesbians & Friends!

We, the Board Members of the European Lesbian* Conference, are very excited to welcome you at one of the largest lesbian conferences to date! The EL*C is a unique platform dedicated to the advancement of human rights and visibility for lesbians in Europe & Central Asia.

The goal of the EL*C is to create an academic, activist, artistic, literary space, where lesbians are able to express themselves fearlessly and proudly. The conference will serve as a skills-and-knowledge-sharing platform for its diverse representation of attendees.

Over 400 NGO leaders, grassroots activists, academics, artists, donors and motivated lesbians from 45 European and Central Asian countries are coming together being driven by the goal of developing a political agenda and a working program for the European lesbian movement in order to increase visibility of lesbian* issues in all spheres, including the social, legal, health, and political ones.

In this “EL*C Participant Pack” you can find the detailed program of the conference and other practical information, which will make your participation at the conference active, useful and engaged.

We are honored to meet you at our common event. Solidarity has always been the key issue and foundation of our movement(s). Let us all together make this conference a great step towards improving the situation of lesbians in our countries!

Enjoy the conference!

About the term “lesbian”: Our aim is to hold an inclusive European lesbian conference. We insist on calling it a lesbian conference although we recognize that, as with any category or label, it may be contested and insufficient to describe the diversity of our communities. We are aware that many previous lesbian gatherings have struggled with inclusion and exclusion issues. However, using the word “lesbian” is part of the political struggle for visibility, empowerment and representation. Therefore we used “lesbian*” with an asterisk in the title European Lesbian* Conference, so as to include anyone who identifies as lesbian, feminist, bi or queer, and all those who feel connected to lesbian activism.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Why a European Lesbian* Conference?

Whereas most sub-communities included in the LGBTI community have managed to gather and structure their own forums, councils, and meetings in addition to the general LGBTI organizations in Europe, this has scarcely been the case for lesbians. European lesbians lack the fundamental structures, tools and mechanisms to fight lesbophobia, sexism, misogyny, transphobia and interphobia, racism and all other types of discrimination experienced daily by members of the community.

Key goals of the European Lesbian* Conference

Firstly, the European Lesbian* Conference aims to strengthen the visibility of lesbians* within the LGBTIQ community and society in general in Europe & Central Asia. The idea is to provide a space for lesbians to develop a political agenda and a working programme for a strong European lesbian movement.

Secondly, the aim of the conference is to offer a platform for the empowerment of lesbian* communities, to open up discussions about their needs and struggles, their successes and achievements, to create space for the lesbian culture, including the history of lesbian activism.

Eventually, in the longer run, these two goals will be implemented through a vibrant European lesbian network, which is one of the key desired outcomes from this event.

Inclusivity leading up to, during, and beyond the European Lesbian* Conference

The EL*C team has aimed to organize a truly inclusive conference. Moreover, the use of the word ‘lesbian’ is deliberate and reflective of the political effort for visibility, empowerment and representation. The conference welcomes all “lesbians*” with an asterisk, meaning anyone who identifies as lesbian, trans lesbian, feminist, bi or queer, and all others who identify with lesbian* activism.

The EL*C organisers will not allow any participants or speakers to promote in any way, shape or form (orally or in writing) any violent, discriminatory, or hurtful communication against any other speaker or participant. The organisers reserve themselves the right to remove any individual or group going against this inclusive approach at any given time during the conference.

Ignition Talk
Elisabeth Holzleithner: Professor of Legal Philosophy and Legal Gender Studies, University of Vienna, Head of the Department of Legal Philosophy, Vice Dean of the Studies Program, Speaker of the Research Network “Gender and Agency”.

Opening Plenary: “History of Lesbian Movement in Europe”
Moderation: Katherine O’Donnell A key measure of oppression is how a group is denied access to thinking of themselves as part of history; as inheritors of tradition; as involved in making communities and cultures that will have an enduring legacy. Lesbians have been marked by the experience of being told that we are a recent phenomenon, that we have made no impact on the world. It is deeply injurious to accept the message that Lesbian lives in the past are not worth considering and it is a remarkable resource to be able to claim a place in history. This panel on Lesbian History is in itself a historic occasion as we have a unique opportunity to hear from four of Europe’s most respected Lesbian activists. They will offer us a survey of their work and engage in discussion with each other on reflect on their experience of building lesbian community and movement since the 1970s.

Lesbian feminists runaways from patriarchy – before and now!
By Lepa Mladjenovic Lesbians in Eastern Europe have mostly started to organize themselves after the fall of the Berlin Wall, except for Yugoslavia where feminist groups started in the early 80s and first lesbians among them. The history of lesbian organizing in Yugoslavia and the follow-up countries reflects the ways the fear of misogynia and miso-lesbia – hatred against lesbians was transformed by the actions and politics. The aim was then and is now among many of us the total destruction of patriarchal privileges that oppress women and lesbians. Therefore we lesbians became runaways of patriarchy – those who oppose oppression and in the meantime enjoy loving women outside of the patriarchal gaze.

Looking back to early 1980s: newsletters, photos, notebooks
By Eva Isaksson What was it like in the early 1980s when you were a lesbian activist and suddenly invited to participate in shaping a new international movement? For Helsinki based Finnish women, running the daily routines of an International Lesbian Information Service for a couple of years meant lonely nights spent with a photocopier and long train journeys to conferences where you would meet some of the most remarkable lesbian activists of that time. We were from very diverse backgrounds and impatient to see our visions to be shaped into action. Were we prepared? Did we have the resources, the vision, the know-how?
A voice of our own. First steps on the international platform
By Evien Tjabbes In '80 I joined the women's collective that organised the first lesbian conference ever in Amsterdam. From then on I stayed involved in both the ILIS secretariat and ILGA's Women's Secretariat in Amsterdam and participated in many international lesbian/gay conferences, chairing various plenary sessions. In '82 I coordinated the Dutch demonstration in support of Eliane Morrissen.

Hidden history
By Lonneke van den Hoonaard a super quick overview of the history of lesbian archiving. Lesbian Archives in the Netherlands. The need of keeping our history, organise safe places and collect our voices.

ACT PARALLEL SESSION

ACT 1 Overcoming patriarchal power control in our lesbian relationships
Description: From birth we are constructed by family order ruled by power and control systems. Hatred against women and lesbians is imbedded in the social rules. When we start our first lesbian love story we miss knowledge that a childhood of love and fear together with hatred towards lesbians will enter in our intimate relationship. Statistics say that in societies where lesbians have more than 5 relationships, in at least one of them there was example of control or violence. We need to talk about this subject – to understand patriarchal oppressions that are reflected in our relationships, to be able to make our lesbian beloved into friends not enemies. We will share stories about love and control in lesbian intimate relationships – from ArciLesbica Italy, Belgrade Counseling for Lesbians, Germany and will open for examples from other places.

Speakers:
- Giovanna Camertoni, feminist counselor in the Center against violence TRENTO, from feminist Network against violence D.iRE, lesbian activist ArciLesbica, Italy.
- Lepa Mladjenovic, feminist counselor, Counseling for Lesbians Belgrade, lesbian activist.
- Ulrike Janz, feminist lesbian activist, Germany – moderator.

Moderator: Biljana Ginova

ACT 2 Lesbian imagination: production, publication and sharing of lesbian culture
Description: The session's purpose is to draw attention to the importance of publication and production of lesbian content in the community and beyond. Sharing of lesbian culture is an important issue for the visibility of the community and for the lesbian social movement as well. Figures and identities presented in different publications represent an artistic movement against lesbofobia and discrimination. The session will present a great work made by different lesbian writers and sound artists as well as the activism work they have done.
ACT 3 Digital activism and data on lesbians
Description: How digital creates change, the way lesbian movements use this channel and why disaggregated data about lesbians can help advocacy will be the main questions raised during this panel.

Speakers:
- Kika Fumero, Co-educator and LGBT activist.
- Marta Fernández, Founder of LesWorking, lesbian networking.
- Natalie Raeber, initiator of the L-World Wiki.
- Natacha Rault, an economist and cyberfeminist, founder of the wikipedian francophone project les sans pagEs focused on reducing the gender gap on Wikipedia.
- Isabelle Sentis, historian, specialized in the field of industrial heritage and European workers.
- Bess Hepworth, Founder and CEO of Planet Ally, Advisor for UNDP Being LGBTI, Asia-Pacific Transgender Network and Australian LGBTI Media Centre.
- Ketsia Mutombo, co-founder of the collective Féministes contre le cyberharcèlement, litt. Feminists against cyberbullying, law student afrofeminist.

Moderator: Leila Lohman

ACT 4 Politics of lesbian sex: squirt back!
Description: The workshops aim to provide opportunities to talk about sex, fun with our bodies and possible limitations. They will as well look at the problems and potentials of revisiting images produced by lesbians* for lesbians* during the so-called era of the feminist sex wars. Roma women start learning about sexuality when reporting violence and becoming a part of workshops and psychological counseling led by NGOs, so sexuality among LBTI Roma women will need to be defined.

Speakers:
- Christine Klapeer, Luan Pertl and Karin Schönpflug are founding members of Klub Rosa Amalie. Rosa Amalie wants to reintegrate thoughts on economic inequality, class and visions of more just societies into conversations in LGBTIQ and feminist communities.
- Laura Guy, Postdoctoral research assistant, Cruising the Seventies: Unearthing Pre-AIDS Queer Sexual Cultures, University of Edinburgh.
Flora Dunster is a PhD Candidate at the University of Sussex. Her research considers the development of LGBT British art and theory between 1987-1996. A chapter on photographer Tessa Boffin and the Lesbian Sex Wars is forthcoming in the anthology Speak, body: Art, the Reproduction of Capital and the Reproduction of Life.

Vesna Cerimovic, president of the Roma Women's Center “Rromnjako Ilo”. She is active in Roma communities on the issue bodily integrity, free choice of partner, education of Roma girls and healthy lifestyles.

Moderator: Michaela Tulipan

ACT 5 Reclaiming European policies for lesbians

Description: Lesbians must be present and visible throughout public life in order to achieve political goals and thus improve their life situations. All around Europe, lesbian groups have often experienced exclusion, censorship and denigration in the LGBT movement during lesbian and women issue related policy debates. Additionally, the implication of lesbians* in economic science as well as economic policies and its economic, political and cultural implications is crucial. From the example of 3 countries, Italy, Germany and Austria, the panel will analyze the implications of lesbians in LGBTI community political discussions, in public policies discourse and in the current economic thinking.

TRANSFORM PARALLEL SESSION

TRS 1 Translesbophobia: The time for alliances has come!

How to conceptualize violence against transgender people – hate crime or gender-based violence?
By Mari-Liis Sepper
European human rights and equality institutions as well as feminist movements have yet to make up their minds on whether violence against trans people should be dealt with in the context of responses to hate crimes or in the framework of combating gender-based violence. I will discuss the learning from Transgender Europe’s research 2009-2017 on trans murders (http://transrespect.org/en/trans-murder-monitoring/tmm-resources/) and other forms of violence against transgender people, and will invite the participants to the workshop to share their views on this question to identify commonalities across the causes of violence experienced by trans people and LBQ women.

Questioning and thinking together about new and alternative ways and basis for struggles, solidarity
By Hazalimu Akpınar
A presentation about the critics of essentialism in feminist and LGBTIQ and other political movement. First I will give a definition about problems of essentialism and how lesbian feminists and minority groups critise essentialism. I will ask “Is there essence or nature?, “Is there gender, sex, Woman, Lesbian?”, “Are they all constructions or natural?”, “problematic concepts: ID and subjectivity, representation”. I try to tell everything and more in a philosophical and linguistic perspective. Is it impossible to find a solution? How can we all establish/create a new and alternative basis for solidarity?
A presentation about the issues of being a trans-activist in Siberia/Russia and about the T9 NSK service project for transgender people and their close ones

TRS 2 Physical and mental health: enough with the invisibility of lesbians in medicine and nursing!

Description: The session will focus on invisibility as one of the major underlying problems which avoids good care for Lesbians and will give some examples of tools, such as art-therapy, which can be useful for fighting internal homophobia, accepting yourself and deal with stress and emotional burnout.

They don’t let it rain on their parade: Protective factors for mental health and physical well-being in sexual minority women*

By Magdalena Siegel, “Research Team: Magdalena Siegel, Katharina Reigbert, Christiana Nöstlinger, & Dorothea König”

Sexual minorities, particularly sexual minority women*, face a heightened risk of developing mental or physical health problems compared to the heterosexually-identified population. The minority-stress model stipulates that these health disparities emerge because members of sexual minorities experience additional stress due to their (stigmatized) sexual identity. Little is known about protective factors of health outcomes, particularly for sexual minority women*. In our presentation, we give an overview on the minority-stress model and discuss findings on protective factors for health outcomes in sexual minority women*. We also present new evidence on the role of sexuality-specific parental support in sexual minority women*.
If you can’t name it, you can’t treat it! We demand professional nursing for lesbians!
By Gabi Stummer
The focus of the presentation about professional nursing will point out the major problems lesbians are exposed to. A neglect of good care is common due to the invisibility of Lesbians. In everyday life of lesbians a shortage of good care is indicated. This deficit must be changed. In the discussion nursing experts*- who take part in the workshop – are asked to share their experiences in their specific field of nursing.

Speakers:
- Magdalena Siegel is a Vienna-based psychologist and PhD-Student at the Department of Psychology, University of Vienna.

The purchasing power of lesbians* is immense yet the influence we can have on the workplace and society may not always be easily recognizable. Does being OUT at work and in teams contribute to cohesion? What is the impact of being OUT on career opportunities? How do women who are OUT experience work – do they have a better experience? What is the impact of being OUT on results? How does lesbian* visibility in the workplace advance inclusion and acceptance of lesbians in society? Which lesbian* business networks are active in Europe and what do they do?

Speakers:

Lesbian activists have proved for decades, if not centuries, that they were champions at building strong public activism and making sure political fights would be visible in the media. On the other hand, lesbian issues, lesbian celebrities and lesbian lives tend to be invisibilized in the media and we are lacking representations.

Lesbian Cruising by KLITTERS
To experience desire and lust through gaze, playing and engaging with our bodies in a consensual way. It is to experience what it means to cruise as lesbians* in a space that is not defined by the private, the home, the commercialised. This is a practical activity and not a lecture. There is a debrief scheduled the next day (Saturday) to discuss the cruising experience and what it all means for our visions, desires, and for us as a community. We imagine this space also as a space for collective aftercare.

Yoga
During this hour, we will delve a little into focused yogic movement, breathing, meditation and massage.
Trainer: Kate Ananda Steiner, a fully qualified yoga teacher and a working artist.

Buddhist Meditation
If you want to give your mind some rest after a busy day and meet other lesbian buddhists, come to this hour of meditation!
Trainer: Petra Seibert, Petra lives in Austria and practices Tibetan Buddhism since the 1990ies.

REFLECT PARALLEL SESSIONS

REF 1 Lesbians, theology and religion

Description: Across Europe, there are vast differences concerning the circumstances of life for lesbian* women, and those differences are not only social, economical, political and legal but also of faith. This panel will present some experiences from lesbian* religious groups and researchers. The Jewish Legal Interpretations of Female Homoeroticism will be explained about by Karin Hügel: In the Hebrew Bible there is no prohibition of female homoeroticism. Living as a (Christian) lesbian in the Netherlands by Miriam Van Tunen, where she talks about her difficult journey as a Christian lesbian living in the liberal Netherlands. Respectful Cooperation across Europe by Tatiana Lekhatkova and Irene Schwyn. Across Europe, there are vast differences concerning the circumstances of life for lesbian* women. Social, political and legal differences influence the access to resources like knowledge and skills, money, or supporting networks of people. All this can be exacerbated for lesbians* of faith who are often considered rather exotic among LGBT people.

Speakers:
- Karin Hügel, Th.M, University of Amsterdam.
- Tatiana Lekhatkova, is a coordinator of LGBT-ministry Nuntiare et Recreare (Saint-Petersburg), European Forum of LGBT Christian Groups (Russia).
- Irene Schwyn, is an ordained parish minister in the Reformed Church in Switzerland, European Forum of LGBT Christian Groups (Switzerland).
- Miriam Van Tunen, is a public speaker and volunteer Tûmba: anti-discrimination organization, Holland.

Moderator: Pia Stevenson

REF 2 Bisexuality: between marginalisation and activist potential

Description: Bisexuality is characterized by invisibility. Bisexuals seem to be in the middle ground between communities: too queer for the heterosexual mainstream and not queer enough for lesbian/queer communities. However, bisexuality has also the political potential of disrupting categories around binaries (e.g. monosexism, gender binary, heterosexism) and compulsory monogamy. Thinking about bisexuality invites to re-examine categories and social norms around sexuality and gender. This workshop invites participants to reflect about their sexual attractions and orientation. Definitions around non-monosexual identities like bisexuality, pansexuality and others will be discussed critically and from an activist perspective. Together with the participants we will discuss topics around bisexuality in the interplay between discrimination or marginalisation and activist potential.

Speakers:
- Dr. Renate Baumgartner, an activist and researcher in Vienna. She currently leads a qualitative research project on bisexual women in Vienna and holds empowerment workshops for bisexuals.
- Katharina Payk, a (german born) Vienna based protestant theologian and (sex) pedagogy. As editor in chief she works at an.schlage, feminist monthly magazine and holds lectureships in gender studies at different universities.
- Claudia Breitenberger, a biology graduate, interested in interdisciplinary research fields on natural sciences and gender, as well as in (non-monogamous) relationship concepts of the queer / LesBi * SM scene in Vienna, e.g. activist work in Bi * groups.

Moderator: Mariella Müller

REF 3 Lesbians organizing in East Europe and Central Asia: case studies

Description: During a workshop we will talk about situations with lesbians in countries from Eastern Europe and Central Asia, which usually remains invisible on the map of Europe. Here we will see how invisibility impacts on lives of women, who face double or even multiple discrimination. We will talk about lesbians, bisexual women and trans, who always stay in the shadow under the LGBT umbrella, when it comes to the resources of distribution and power. Giving voice to the most marginalized communities, working on intersectional issues, class, ethnicity etc can make a difference.

Speakers:
- Alisa Zhabenko is PhD student at Gender Studies, Helsinki University, her research is on the lesbian motherhood in Russia.
- Agnes Granroth, Masters student, Gender Studies, Åbo Akademi University, Finland.
- Regina Sigmund, has been living in Hungary since 2013 and is engaged in the lesbian movement there.

Moderator: Olena Shevchenko

Description: Elderly lesbians were hidden from view most of their lives, an insight in oral history work and experience with going public, dealing with with the stories of elderly lesbians. How to understand what you face with ageism? Not custom, not traditional norms, just ageism. Part of the workshop is based on the outcomes/recommendations of the first Czech study on LGBT elderly people and LGBT-friendly social and health care (published in 2017). Furthermore the workshop will discuss the lesbian age gap and the reasons this specific cultural phenomenon has been largely ignored/forgotten about in queer theory and recent lesbian/feminist studies.

Speakers:
- Jolana Novotná, In 2010 she launched the first Czech programme on LGBT aging under PROUD z.s. in Prague, and has been its Head since then.
- Corinne Rufli, the author of a book with 11 life stories of women loving women over 70: “Seit dieser Nacht war ich wie verzaubert”.

Speakers:
- KLITTERS

Plenary Connect: Access to funds for Lesbian* movements
Description: There continues to be a persistent lack of attention to the needs and priorities of LBQ women and Gender-Non-Conforming (GNC) people, both in philanthropy and within LGBTQI and women's rights civil society. Of the $424 million for international LGBTI issues in the two year period of 2013-2014, only $9.5 million (2%) targeted lesbians, bisexual women, and queer women. Furthermore, lesbian and queer women in Europe tend to be strong leaders and members of LGBTQI, women's rights, and other social justice movements, and have produced many success stories - while the particular “LBQ” concerns tend to get pushed into the background. This plenary panel will include reflections from recent and ongoing research, the upcoming continental conference, and observations about the movements' funding level, gaps and needs.

CON 2 Dyke it yourself: protest, activism and campaigning
Description: In an open space setting we will exchange experiences and learn from each other’s activism and actions. Pride, lesbian* visibility, representation and inclusion: how to be visible in white / gay / commercial dominated prides and how to organize ourselves in a sustainable manner? Who’s (still) a lesbian? Which reflexive and practical tools exist to promote the inclusion of multiple self-identifications without erasing lesbian (political) identities? Multiple identifications and self-definitions (queer, bisexual, WSW, asexual, pansexual, women*, trans*, genderqueer, non-binary, etc.)
can be a challenge to flyers, leaflets, group activities, workshops, etc. Is it possible to name everyone? Is the * enough?
